

April 5, 2006

Please write your message here. Take note of the style tips and talking points in the sidebar.

Please consider what this would do to the small local banks that have been around for a hundred years. I believe they care about their community they are a part of it.

Wal-Mart should think of their employees who need health insurance at a reasonable price or letting their employees have a union. I don't think Wal-Mart would give back to their employees or a community they would just take as much as they are allowed to only to increase their wallets.

I hope the board of directors will attend this meeting. It is far too important to miss.

Sincerely,

Carolyn J. McGill